Wilderness Education in the Boundary Waters Canoe Area

This experience will focus on “Wilderness Education” and includes a four day trip into the Boundary Waters Canoe Area Wilderness. This canoe trip is open to beginners, however it does involve paddling and portaging canoes in rugged terrain. The canoe trip is fully outfitted and led by experienced wilderness leaders.

Teachers who attend this workshop are introduced to natural resource management and the role of Wilderness in our society. They learn Scientific facts and hands-on experiences to take back to their classroom to engage students in learning about their environment.

Program Content:

- Academic discussion and field trips focused on wilderness values and management, wildlife ecology, historic, cultural and economic values, responsible natural resource management and conservation.
- 4-day fully outfitted and professionally led canoe trip into the Boundary Waters Canoe Area Wilderness for hands-on learning.
- Field trips to the International Wolf Center, Dorothy Molter Museum, visits with U.S. Forest Service staff responsible for management of the BWCAW.
- Outdoor Skills experiences in canoe trip planning, wilderness navigation, plant and animal identification, survival skills, and fishing.
